SCENES IN FATAL SHOOTING OF POLICEMAN FRIDAY AND WITNESSES

SLAYER OF CHARLES SIMMS HELD AFTER CAPTURE NEAR TREBEINS

National Guardsmen Arrest Robert Lee, Alias Smith, at Little Miami River Bridge at 3 a. m. Saturday After More Than Thousand In Poses Search Country Side Eleven Hours — Accused Denies Shooting—Simms Funeral Tuesday.

Surrounded by posses made up of policemen, deputy sheriffs, National Guardsmen and armed citizens, Robert Lee, alias Frank Lee, alias Robert Smith, 42, colored, Monroe, Mich., was captured at 3 o'clock Saturday morning for the murder of Charles Simms 47, colored, veteran Xenia policeman.

Lee was arrested at the Trebeins bridge over the Little Miami River by Corporal William Thompson and Private Harold Jenks of Company L, 147th Infantry, who were among twenty one members of the company who volunteered for the manhunt. Officers confiscated an empty .25 calibre Mauser automatic pistol from which the cartridge clip had been removed.

Guardsmen turned Lee over to Special Deputy Sheriff Dilver Belden and Patrolman Ed Craig of the Xenia Police Department, who rushed him to Police Headquarters. Within a few minutes after he was locked up at the station, Lee was hurried to the County Jail when crowds surrounding Police Headquarters became menacing and fears for safety of the prisoner were entertained.

One man, admitted to the cell block to identify the prisoner, drew a revolver with a threat to kill Lee in the cell. He was disarmed by Chief of Police M. E. Graham and ejected. Shortly afterwards officers formed a complete circle around the prisoner to prevent him being shot, and led him through the crowd in front of Police Headquarters. Police say several members of the crowd had ropes. Most of them had participated in the manhunt, and were heavily armed. There was no further demonstration after Lee was taken to the County Jail.

Lee is accused of shooting Simms four times with a .25 calibre pistol at the home of Earl Keyes, colored, 915 East Church Street, shortly before 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. Simms had gone to Keyes' house searching for Lee, whom he wanted to question about beating a board bill in Cedarville. Police believe the man may be wanted for another serious crime, and that his desperate act to prevent arrest was in the belief the officer wanted him for the other offense.

The policeman died almost instantly. One shot is believed to have pierced the jugular vein and lodged in the back of the neck. One is thought to have pierced the heart. All four took effect at close range in the chest of the officer. Simms staggered from the door of the Keyes home to the sidewalk, where he died as neighbors who ran to the scene attempted to support him in the death throes.

FOREIGN POLICY AND POLITICS DIVIDING COOLIDGE INTEREST

President Practically Launches
Butler's Campaign For
U. S. Senate

Swampscott, Mass., July 11.—Politics and foreign policy divided the attention of President Coolidge evenly today as he brought to a close the third week of his vacation.

This afternoon the president officiated at what amounts to the formal launching of the 1926 campaign of William M. Butler, of Massachusetts, chairman of the Republican national committee, for continuance in the United States Senate.

Tonight he will confer with Secretary of State Kellogg and under Secretary of State Grew relative to the American attitude toward China, now in the throes of a civil war that is endangering foreign life and property. Also the president will discuss with his diplomatic advisers questions confronting the administration in connection with the impending debt negotiations with the allies.

The Butler party is being staged at Baucroft farm, the summer home of Ralph Bauer, Republican candidate for mayor of Lynn.

Mr. Coolidge accepted the invitation for today's outing with the distinct understanding that Senator Butler also would be included. Although the president personally has refused to address the assembly, his 1926 campaign manager is scheduled to make the principal speech of the afternoon and it is predicted the event will serve as the opening of his fight for the senatorial seat from Massachusetts.

ARRAIGNED SOON

With the hurried return to Xenia early Saturday afternoon of Prosecuting Attorney J. Carl Marshall, authorities expressed the belief that Robert Lee alias Frank Lee, 42 colored, would be arraigned before a local Justice of the Peace Saturday afternoon on a first degree murder charge for the alleged slaying of Patrolman Charles Simms.

Prosecutor Marshall made a quick return to Xenia from Russell Point, O., where he had been spending a vacation and immediately conferred with Common Pleas Judge R. L. Gowdy upon the advisability of recalling the Grand Jury for the May term, in special session.

Since Lee repeatedly denies killing the Xenia patrolman, authorities believe he will enter a plea of not guilty, when arraigned and be formally bound over to Common Pleas Court.

Authorities were to question Lee again Saturday afternoon in an effort to obtain an admission of guilt.

FUNDAMENTALIST JURY TO TRY EVOLUTION LAW TEST

FORCES OF RELIGION HOLD ADVANTAGE AS TRIAL IS POSTPONED

Lawyers Argue Dismissal
On Constitutional Grounds

Dayton, Tennessee, July 11.—The forces of religion, which rallied to help Tennessee convict John Thomas Scopes on a charge of violating her anti-evolution law, held a material advantage today.

A jury of fundamentalists, all God-fearing farmers of the Cumberland hills and a new indictment, freed of technical flaws, were the trophies hung at the prosecution's door. To the defense was given one boon—a much sought forty eight hour delay due to adjournment of the trial until Monday.

This respite ended, two of the most important battles of the trial will be fought. This forenoon wizards of the law occupied the state to thresh out a defense motion for dismissal of the whole case on constitutional grounds. In the afternoon orators will step into the spotlight to debate its religious issues.

The battle of lawyers will wage around the constitutional guarantees of personal liberty, religious freedom and property rights. It will be heavy with statutory law, legal precedents and constitutional rights. The prosecution has predicted defeat of the motion, the defense has little hope of success. But whatever the decision this slim techy ally will some day carry the case into the highest tribunal of the land.

The forensic battle will revolve around a simple announcement of defense witnesses. It will unleash two of the greatest orators of the day—Clarence Darrow, world famed agnostic, and William Jennings Bryan, leader of American fundamentalists—in a dramatic clash over evolution and the Bible. It may range over several days before the air is cleared.

He was received at the penitentiary in May 1922, to serve from three to 15 years for criminal assault.

JURY RECALLED

Following a request by Prosecutor J. C. Marshall, Common Pleas Judge R. L. Gowdy will order the Grand Jury for the May term recalled in special session Thursday morning for consideration of the case of the state against Robert Lee, colored, 42, on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the alleged slaying of Patrolman Charles Simms.

The mosquito problem in Cedarville was discussed by council members, but no decision as to how to rid the village of the pests was reached. The matter was left in the hands of Dr. R. H. Grube, Xenia, county health commissioner. The village has been over-run with mosquitoes for several weeks and drastic action is being considered.

DULUTH PRELATE IS NAMED ARCHBISHOP OF CINCINNATI SEE

Monsignor Mc Nicholas Takes Place Refused By Bishop
Joseph Chartrand

Cincinnati, O., July 11.—Preliminary arrangements were being made Saturday for the ceremony incidental to the elevation of Monsignor John T. McNicholas, bishop of Duluth, to Archbishop of Cincinnati and head of the Cincinnati archdiocese embracing five states.

The conferring of the pallium upon the new archbishop and his investiture with the other insignia of his high office, will take place at St. Peter's Cathedral, Cincinnati, in about a month.

Local Catholic churchmen today expressed the opinion that Bishop McNicholas would be physically better to attend to the multitudinous duties of the new office than would Bishop Joseph Chartrand of Indianapolis, whose appointment to be archbishop of Cincinnati was followed by his request to remain at Indianapolis to which he was re-appointed by Pope Pius.

GIVE BLOOD TO SAVE POMEROY CITIZEN

Pomeroy, O., July 11.—A blood transfusion operation was to be performed today in the hope of saving the life of Fred Eberbach, millionaire business man and Pomeroy's first citizen. When physicians announced that the step had been decided upon eight men, all former employees of Eberbach volunteered and gave samples of their blood. That of C. V. Mulholland was pronounced of the proper consistency and his offer accepted.

Key to pictures: 1—Home of Earl Keyes, colored, 915 East Church Street, where Patrolman Charles Simms was killed when he attempted to enter the house to arrest Robert Lee, wanted for beating a board bill.

RICH YOUTH KILLS FOR THRILL

Erratic Youth Thought To Have Killed Taxi Driver After Deserting

New York, July 11.—An intensive manhunt leading into the Adirondacks, was in full swing today for Philip Knapp, erratic headstrong scion of a wealthy Syracuse, N. Y., family, who is wanted in connection with the cold-blooded murder of Louis Penella, a taxicab driver.

Penella was found shot and beaten to death on a lonely road near Hempstead L. I., July 4. Knapp disappeared from Mitchell Field, where he was an aviation student at about the same time. He had boasted that he had tried a lot of things—rum running, automobile racing, college life, the navy—but he "couldn't get a kick out of any of them."

He wanted a super-thrill. The authorities are convinced he killed Penella for this thrill, much in the same manner as Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, killed little Bobby Franks in Chicago.

Advice to the authorities from northern New York this morning were that Knapp had been tracked to the foothills of the Adirondacks in the vicinity of Glen Falls. He is said to have been trying to "beat" his way to Canada. His arrest is believed to be only a matter of hours.

Although no formal charge of murder has been lodged against Knapp the authorities say they are convinced as a result of their investigation of events just prior to the slaying that Knapp killed Penella for the "super thrill" he wanted so badly.

On July 1, three days before Penella's body was found, Knapp had deserted from Mitchell Field. That night he talked to Penella, a hard working owner of a taxi service, as they stood in front of a restaurant in Hempstead.

Shortly afterward Penella got a call for his service and answered in his automobile.

That was the last trip Penella made as far as the records show. No one has been found who saw Penella alive after that night. Young Knapp, who has been "fired" out of two colleges, Cornell and Syracuse, before he came to Mitchell Field, was known to his associates at the field as a "peculiar" chap. He wrote a lot, kept to himself a great deal, was bored at army life and when he did talk, declared one of the big ideas in his mind, was to in some way get a "real kick out of life."

Knapp's disappearance from Mitchell Field was declared significant by officers seeking to solve the murder, after Penella's body was found on the afternoon of July 4, by three friends who were searching for the missing taxi driver. They came upon the body clumsily hidden, beneath slabs of concrete rubbish in the ruins of the base hospital at Camp Mills, near Mineola. A .45 calibre bullet had been sent through the back of his head. His coat and underclothing had been drawn over his head in the effort of dragging him to his burial place. His pockets were stripped of everything that might identify him and $75, which his friends said he had in his pockets when he left on his last trip, was gone.

The authorities found that a .45 calibre Colt automatic number 507 was missing after Penella disappeared.

Knapp, according to the police, said Penella's car after using it for a day or so. The car was sold to a used car concern in New York City for $1,000 receiving $100 down. He did not come back for the other $900. The receipt given the car company was signed "Louis Penella." The signature the authorities claim, matches the handwriting of Knapp.

The military authorities at Mitchell field, state troopers and detectives were cooperating today to effect the capture of the fleeing ex-collegian and his arrest is expected momentarily.

The murderer ran from the house, north through an alley, and is believed to have cut across yards into the eastern part of the Roberts estate, George Rogers, neighbor, who heard the shooting and ran to the scene, thought Lee was starting toward Cedarville. It was on this tip that officers first confined their search to that direction, giving Lee from an hour to an hour and one-half start to the west.

Chief Graham and Deputy Sheriff Baughn went to Cedarville, where they obtained a description of Lee and learned his name, Patrolman Charles Thompson and Fred Jones, with several volunteers in an automobile driven by George Geyer, circled from the Columbus to the Jamestown Pike before they learned Frank Chambliss had sighted the fugitive entering a corn field at the R. E. Bryson farm, Springfield Pike. The officers then went in that direction while Dr. Wilbur Zell obtained a dog to follow the tracks.

Officers were augmented by volunteers armed to the teeth who patrolled the section west of the Springfield Pike from then until darkness while Probation officer J. E. Watts notified police of other cities. Dayton police took two colored men from a Dayton and Xenia traction car in Dayton, but each proved he was not the man sought.

Searchers struck the trail again about 6 o'clock at the Robert Brewer farm, Hawkins Road, where Lee was seen coming through the fields after the heavy rain at 4:30 o'clock and where he inquired directions to

BUILDING A HOUSE IS BIG MATTER OF INVESTMENT

Here's what the editor of a well known magazine, an authority on household economy, says about the owning of one's home:

"No man is a real success in life, until he owns his own home—even then he may be far from the mark. In Heaven's name when will we learn that money is not the test of success? Neither is position, nor power, nor place. We are here to learn to live, to live lives wholly and completely, and it cannot be done wholly and completely except in a detached house where the family can develop its own individuality. We can't live secure lives except we own the house we live in!"

"If you can't buy a home, buy a lot. Start today. Sell yourself a place in the sun and make it a fixed charge against income. You owe it to yourself and those dependent upon you."

And when he says, "Buy a lot," he means the thought to continue into "and build a house on it." The valuable investment of home-building starts with the selection of a good contractor, an expert along his line, who will give you something to show for your money, to last during the years to come.

George H. Smith, Xenia contractor is the man. See him for details on your building plan.

ALLOW CHILDREN TO "PIECE" WITH MILK LUNCHEON

Every mother knows how children love to "piece." Every day, between the hours of breakfast, lunch and dinner, an occasional request is made for "something to eat, Mother."

This "piecing" will not hurt youngsters, but will instead aid their growth, providing the small lunch is composed of nutritious foods. What is more appetizing and a delight to the child than a few crisp wafers and lots of good milk? A mid-morning "lunch," by the way is advised by Dr. Holt, for children up to nine or ten years of age.

A tea-room which makes a specialty of lunches for children provides small cups and saucers for the ecstatic drinking of the necessary and somewhat uninteresting milk.

Milk, purchased from the Xenia Milk Producers Company, is always enjoyed by children, since it is pure and fresh at all times. Be sure your milk is of the best by buying it from this company.

Besides being taken as a beverage, milk can be converted into so many delicious and different dishes. Custards, milk chocolates with cereal and fresh fruit, and in a dozen different other ways.

There are many easy ways of satisfying interest in the beverage which might well be taken advantage of by housekeepers.

HORNEY SAND AND GRAVEL INSURE A GOOD BUILDING

Good taste in building as well as furnishing a home demands genuineness of materials. It is for this reason that home-builders begin at the beginning, the foundation of their home, to see that only the best materials are used to insure durability and beauty.

Sand and gravel taken from the Horney pit, West Second Street, is of the finest grade in this section of the country and is used for the best cement blocks and other building purposes.

Building material made from Horney sand and gravel are the best because they last. Therefore they are economical.

They are inexpensive. Therefore they are suitable for any building. They are unobtrusive. Therefore they form a pleasing part of any architectural design.

Mr. Horney will furnish the finest sand and gravel for the building of homes and apartments, schools and institutions, commercial buildings and industrial structures.

Build of the best from the bottom!

INDIVIDUALITY DESIRE MET BY THE WISE CONTRACTOR

Individuality in the design of the house—there is nothing that anyone of us desires more, nothing that we prize more. There is nothing for which we would not make a greater effort.

Proud would be the man who could say, "There is not another house like mine in Greene County."

Individuality does not mean grotesqueness, it does not mean constructing a house that is "queer." There are those who court individuality with cleverness, seeking to achieve it with striking and unprecedented design.

The realization of this aim, lies in the selection of the right contractor. For, most numerous of all, are those who believe that individuality is to be achieved by the construction and general appearance of the house, exterior and interior.

W. H. Peterson, Xenia contractor, has gained his exclusive ideas of house construction, that are out of the ordinary lines of "just houses" and which combine beauty with durability, through many years of contracting experience. Your selection of him as your contractor will be rewarded with the realization of a "different" home and one that will be a source of pride to you, the community and entire district.

SAVE ON CLOTHES BY PATRONIZING XENIA CLEANERS

Everyone knows that a person is well dressed if they are neat and clean in their appearance, even though their suit or dress may be several seasons old, but kept in good condition.

But who can appear at their best if their clothing is wrinkled and soiled even tiny spots marking the beauty of the fabric, and torn places gone un-mended.

Think of the amount that may be saved through judicious care of your clothes and expert care in the handling. It is a very small job of pressing or dry cleaning that can be done expertly and with success.

One of the primary rules of economy is to buy good clothes and then take care of them. Keep your tricks and suits and other wearing apparel in perfect condition by sending them to the Xenia Dry Cleaning Company, E. Main Street.

They will remove every spot without leaving the slight trace of an odor mend the worn places and press the material until it looks like a new garment.

VERSATILITY IN REPAIR WORK IS W. L. HALL TRADE

Mr. Farmer, have you machine parts worth possibly hundreds of dollars, that can be welded and reclaimed at a fraction of the cost of a new piece?

No matter how large or small the broken piece may be, or of what metal it may be made of, W. L. Hall, welder and blacksmith, West Second Street, will reclaim the piece, and make it as good as new.

Mr. Hall is versatile in repair lines. From fixing an expert horseshoer he sharpens every type of blade and welds every kind of machinery and castings.

He takes care of broken pieces from machine shops and factories. He sharpens lawn mowers, scythes, and knives, and all metal that needs attention.

Many concerns depend on horse-drawn vehicles for their delivery work and are assured of expert shoeing of their horses by Mr. Hall. People that still depend on the driving horse in this motor age, go to Mr. Hall for their work. Farm horses are brought to Mr. Hall for attention.

LET THE HALE TAXI BE YOUR MAGICAL CARRIAGE TODAY

If Cinderella had lived in the present part of the Twentieth Century, her Fairy Godmother would probably have called the Hale Taxi to transport her to the magical ball.

She would have chosen this taxi service because she would be assured of promptness and the greatest comfort. She would have the choice of several machines and be given the best attention and care.

Present day Xenia travelers chose this service because of the same reasons and with the additional convenience of having all their luggage and packages taken care of by the taxi company, relieving the traveler of all worry.

Passengers to and from the Pennsylvania depot are given the benefit of the company's service, and taxis are at the station at all hours of the day to take care of passengers. Why walk in the heat, cold or rain and other disagreeable weather when you can have a comfortable taxi immediately at your service?

ACCIDENTAL DEATH VERDICT OF CORONER IN TROLLEY TRAGEDY

A verdict of "accidental death by being struck by a traction car" was given by Dr. R. L. Haines, county coroner following an inquest into the accident at Goetz Station that resulted in three deaths, held in the stenographer's office in the Court House Saturday morning.

The lives of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cade, and Lawrence Malone, son of Mrs. Cade, all of Goes, were snuffed out when a Springfield and Xenia traction car struck the automobile in which they were riding a week ago Friday.

Coroner Haines will not attempt to fix responsibility for the triple tragedy, but said the driver of the machine was probably at fault. A view of the track was unobstructed.

The following witnesses of the accident testified at the inquest: James Pennett, motorman of the traction car; John E. Frey, conductor; Mr. and Mrs. John Henry of Goes, who were driving a second machine behind the Cades'; George Armstrong of Goes, and Jesse Phillips of Goes.

THREE CANDIDATES FILE DECLARATIONS IN COMMISSION RACE

The race for place on the City Commission was launched at the "eleventh hour" late Saturday morning when Judge H. L. Smith, S. M. McKay and John Prugh, retiring members of the commission, filed petitions with Earl Short, clerk of the board of elections, seeking reelection.

Petitions were circulated by the three candidates and each contained more than the required number of signers, eighty-six. The term of each commissioner expires this year, leaving three vacancies to be filled.

Judge Smith, president of the commission, is completing one full term of four years as commissioner. Mr. McKay, an appointee to the position, has served the greater part of one term, while Mr. Prugh was recently appointed to fill a vacancy on the commission caused by the resignation of George E. Hudson, whose term would have expired this year.

Saturday at midnight, is the official deadline for filing declarations of candidacies but those received through the mail and dated Saturday will be approved.

No primary will be held in Xenia this year unless seven or more than twice as many candidates as there are vacancies file before 12 p.m., Saturday. The regular municipal election will be held in November.

Should the commission field be limited to but three candidates, each entry will be assured of re-election.

MR. FIX-IT.

MR. FIX-IT, who conducts a daily column to adjust the complaints of readers on this page asks readers to look for something to complain about.

Mr. Fix-It's plea reminds us of the man who watches the fire department extinguishing a fire, and insists on letting everyone within ear-shot know that he knows more about putting out a fire than the firemen.

He laughs at their efforts, criticizes the strategy used in combatting the blaze, complains that the firemen are doing more damage than the fire, and grumbles when they eventually complete their task without serious property loss. This man is peeved at himself and the firemen because the fire did not get beyond their control.

Lots of us have complaints and criticisms of this sort to make of public officials, public administration and public employes, but few of us air them at the right time or place. Constructive criticism is helpful but unjustified slurs frequently do harm.

Now then, Mr. Fix-It operates his column for the benefit of those people who have constructive criticism or justifiable complaint to make of any condition within their knowledge. It is believed that not enough take advantage of this column, which brings the complaint directly to the proper source, in comparison to the many who array themselves with the "knockers" and make their complaints where they can not be of any value. Perhaps such is human nature.

THE COMIC STRIP.

DEVELOPMENT of the "funnies" or comic strips, has been one of the marked newspaper tendencies of recent years. The idea back of these comics is an old one, but their present popularity and magnitude are relatively new. Many newspapers, The Journal among them, regularly offer a full page of these comics, and there is ample evidence that they are widely appreciated.

Some of these humorous creations make no pretense at other than sheer slapstick comedy. Others are equally subtle and delicious in their humor. Still others, while funny, suggest an obvious moral. There is seemingly no end to the variations possible, in both aim and technique.

Now comes Dr. Frederick W. Seward, a Goshen, N. Y., neurologist, with praise for the newspaper comic sections as an aid to good health. They are an antidote for neurasthenia and brain fog, he says.

"People whose ire is easily aroused," he told a convention of medical men the other day in New York, "who fly into rage on the slightest provocation, are candidates for nerve exhaustion and brain fog. A calm, even temperament is an invaluable health asset. I advise neurasthenics to look for the funny side of life. The liberal sprinkling of our newspapers with comic strips is a decidedly beneficial thing from a health standpoint."

On the authority of Dr. Seward it is a blessing in disguise for those who laugh at the victim's plight. "Pa" Perkins' troubles likewise are a safety-valve for the multitudes who daily follow "Polly and Her Pals." If Dr. Seward is right, and we suspect he is, most of us would live longer if we laughed more. It costs nothing to try it. Some have felt anxious about the "comics" because of their supposed instillation of wrong ideas of "art" into children, but the average child, we think, will not take the comic strips to be anything else than they are.

A QUESTIONNAIRE ON LAKE LEVELS

FROM the federal engineering offices, city engineers at Great Lakes ports have received a questionnaire asking, among other things whether compensating works ought to be built on the St. Clair river or elsewhere, in order to maintain lake levels. The questions include nothing as to whether the alleged gradual fall in lake levels ought further to be promoted by the continued withdrawal of water from the lakes through the Chicago canal.

As to compensating works, at the St. Clair passage or elsewhere, the time may come when they will be an absolute necessity. This will certainly be so if it is true that natural causes are now producing, and will continue to produce, a gradual diminution in the amount of water received and carried by the entire Great Lakes system. It remains true, however, that compensating works to regulate the flow would not only be very expensive but would also constitute a permanent inconvenience and delay to all shipping obliged to pass such works. Such an inconvenience should therefore be introduced, only when uncontrollable natural causes make it necessary; and the withdrawal of 10,000 cubic feet of water per second through the canal at Chicago is not an uncontrollable natural cause.

A FATHER'S PRAYER FOR WISDOM

God grant me this—the power to guard you well.
 To get your life where love and laughter play;
 So much there is to fear, so strange the way,
 So difficult to know what truths to tell;
 So sweet is life to those who live it well.

That, lovely child of mine, I nightly pray
 That should come one to lead your feet astray
 You shall not falter 'neath that subtle spell.

I cannot know what foes await you there,
 But I do know that some would tempt and stain,
 Would take your hand and lead to places where Pleasure's guise grow misery and pain!
 And all I ask of God is light to see,
 And wisdom, lovely child, to counsel thee.

"And this tiny room can be the nursery!" planned an enthusiastic young couple, parents of a six-months-old infant as they considered the purchase of a home.

Why should people select the smallest room in the house for a nursery? A nursery is a place where plenty of space is needed—where, as the child grows to the rough-and-tumble age, he will spend many a rainy day with his little friends, playing games. No space should be next consideration after sunlight, in planning a nursery.

Then there is the important question of furnishing and decorating the nursery. I have always believed in painting the walls rather than papering them; for, a painted wall is more sanitary because it is washable. If the nursery floor is not made of hard wood, it had best be covered with cork carpeting. Indeed, many mothers prefer the cork carpet to a weed surface for the reason that it silences the noise of romping little feet and does not show spills and spots. But if you cannot afford this covering, then several washable rag rugs, or one large rag rug, may be used with satisfactory results.

What color scheme is suitable for this room? For a not-very-sunny room I like a warm buff on the walls and either pale pink or pale blue flowered cretonne draperies. But if the room gets the sunshine for a number of hours on end, I like tan walls combined with the pink or blue hangings. By "hangings" I mean a very narrow shade curtain on either side of the windows (no ruffle-valance, as that shuts out the light) door curtains, curtains over bookshelves, etcetera.

Painted or enameled furniture in either cream or buff, is prettiest. Be sure that this is of the right size in proportion to the child's height. Round tables are better than square ones. Even the tops of chairs should be curved rather than square, to guard against bumps while the child is playing.

is playing. And have plenty of shelves—not only for books, but for toys. I know of two children who have furnished an empty bookcase as a doll "apartment house," with toy furniture on each "floor!"

Of course the nursery pictures should be of a nature to attract and delight the child—animals, fairy-tale characters, or pictures of children at play are all suitable.

In other words, when furnishing a nursery keep in mind that it is your child, not you, who is to live there and find pleasure in the surroundings.

Today's Talks

NO PARKING HERE!

I never see this sign but that I am made thoughtful. The fact is that there is too much parking in the wrong place.

I know of people who have idle useless drones parked all over their consciousness. They carry an extra burden because there are those who have thought that they owned space in that life.

And then there are those who allow no parking on their property. They want every inch of space that is theirs that they may make life just as full for them as they are able. Of such is the Kingdom of Doing.

Every business man is aware of that type which finds it most convenient to park on his time. This type is always destructive. It takes and gives nothing.

I know of people who park on the affections of others, thus depriving that one of beauty and freedom justly due.

The long lanes and avenues of life are littered with parkers. They know that they have no right to park there and yet they take the chance and go their way self-satisfied and secretly gloating over their good fortune as it seems to them.

Real life is movement. He who stands still lays himself open to great temptation. He retards. He shrivels. He grows selfish and boastful. And his courage grows pale and thin of meaning.

I can think of no human being capable of parking in the office of a Morgan or an Edison.

You can almost read the sign on some people's faces: "Park here!" And on those same faces you see the lines and scars of those who have parked there and left nothing good or of worth.

Why park anyway? Move bravely on. If your goal is worth attainment, then it is worth moving toward every moment of the day.

REDUCE BONDED DEBT

This debt is exclusive of the school board debt which is probably four times that sum. A total of $99,500 of the debt represents deficiency bonds, due to borrowings made necessary when taxes failed to meet city expenses.

MODISH MITZI—Heave Away and All That Sort Of Thing

By JAY V. JAY

Is Polly downhearted? Not yet. She will be when the ship tips just a little more and she spills water over her new dress—a jumper dress of white flannel with a wide Roman striped band around the hips.

Eleanor is wondering whether she shall have her hair permanently waved—rising superior to circumstance. She is helped in this by the fact that her dress—knitted with a zig-zag pattern in colors—is most striking.

Adelaide is thinking that she never did like the ocean anyway and that it always did act in this irrelevant fashion—however she looks well in a frock of white crepe de chine trimmed with polka dotted blue and white.

Mitzi is managing a look noncommittal—not that she really likes this sort of thing. It's just that she is trying to live up to her dress of pale blue flannel trimmed with applique in two darker shades of the same color.

"NOT POSSIBLE TO CLASSIFY"

BY MACK SAUER

THE SALVATION ARMY

Each night I hear them sing and shout upon some down town corner, they preach to every one about, if he be friend or scoundrel. They're daily at our city door to drive out little sins-to help the suffering and the poor and make them have the grins.

In trenches red with soldiers' blood they passed out doughnuts hot; they lived with doughboys in the mud, and faced the Germans' shot. In battles fierce they faced the hell, not once they proved out yellow, they did their bit and did it well to help the other fellow.

Seven days a week they toll away and play their drums and fiddles, and every night they sing and pray and answer Bible riddles. Their church is 'neath the open sky, there are no cushioned pews; the speakers talk to passersby who stay what time they choose.

Some churches now are filled with style, the high brows come by numbers; they try to fake a Christian smile. Old Satan haunts their slumbers. All week they pull their business deals, as sly as would a fox; on Sunday then with rubber heels they pass the collection box.

But some sweet day we all shall croak, and friends will round us moan; religion then will be no joke, we'll sing a different tone. And when we sail our little bark across the Jordan river to meet St. Peter in the dark with fear we'll fairly quiver. Our bark will toss high in the tide, our pathway will be stormy, while calm and peaceful by our side will sail the good old Army.

Perhaps these lines are quite unwise and yet it seems to me, there are a lot of modern guys who need Christianity.

SIMMS' SLAYER CAPTURED NEAR RIVER BRIDGE

the Dayton Pike and information regarding Dayton cars. In the meantime the dog lost the trail at a hedge beyond the corn field the fugitive escaped and later taken to the Brewer farm to pick up the scent.

While one party of officers drove through Alpha and as far as Shoup's Station, others confined their attentions to Kill Kare Park and the Treblein neighborhood on a tip he was seen in the park at 5 o'clock. Other searches constantly augmented by recruits worked toward Yellow Springs and the section was practically surrounded when darkness hindered the search. Posses attempted to surround the section to prevent his escape until daylight would offer the chance to capture him.

A colored man seen in Yellow Springs, whose actions were suspicious, was arrested in Springfield by police there after being notified, but was released when he proved his identity. Constant reports that Lee was seen at Treblein, especially around the P. H. Flynn dairy farm there, kept the chase hot at that point where 1,000 people gathered most of them armed. Other volunteers at Police Headquarters responded to tips coming in to Chief Graham there.

Captain Leroy V. John, Company L, called for volunteers when the search appeared fruitless and twenty-one men responded. With Captain John and Lieutenant J. K. Berger, they arrived at Treblein at 11 o'clock. Deploying as skirmishers the soldiers introduced system to the search and searched the section for two hours. Captain John then assigned cossack posts, two men to a post, and they took up the wait until dawn.

Corporal Jesse Burgert and Private Joseph Wyatt, posted in the Flynn farm, saw Lee at 2:30 o'clock. They fired over his head and he ran. Captain John with Corporals Burgert, William Thompson and Ernest Mangum and Privates Harold Jenks, Wyatt and Huston, followed Lee through the fields, shooting three salvos and shots at the dimly-seen figure. When they failed to stop him, two new cossack posts were established.

Corporal Thompson and Private Jenks were established on the north side of the river, just east of the pike bridge. Lee, who had attempted to make a break west, had been turned back east, and again attempted to break the lines west by wading the river. He waded from the river near where the men were posted and he covered him with their rifles and marched him to the bridge. His clothing was soaking wet when arrested.

Lee was subjected to the third degree by Sheriff Sharp, Deputy Baughn and Chief of Police Ber. South of Wilmington at the jail following his arrest. He admitted his home is in Monroe, Mich., where he has a wife that he formerly worked in Colarbus; that he came from there to Springfield and that he went to Cedarville three weeks ago. He admitted coming to Xenia Friday also, but denied the shooting under a terrific cross examination. He was left in his cell after the grilling, stripped of his clothing to prevent suicide. Papers found in his pockets and in the pockets of a suit of clothes he left at Cedarville, gave his aliases. When arrested he had $9.91 in his pocket.

Lee was employed at the plant of The Abel Magnesia Company, Cedarville and had been living at the home of Mrs. Minnie Hamilton. When he left yesterday without paying his bill, the woman followed him and sought aid of Chief Graham. He advised her to get a warrant but it is said she was refused a warrant from either Police Judge E. D. Smith or J. E. Jones, justice of the peace.

The woman then sought Patrolman Simms, who was off-duty at that hour. He told her she had no legal recourse if her home was not posted as a boarding house, but offered friendly assistance in finding Lee. Earl Keyes told police Lee entered his house and demanded a shirt. He was given a white shirt, which he put on, leaving a blue shirt. Simms was approaching the Keyes house when Keyes ran out, telling him of the episode. The officer went to the door when it was suddenly thrown open and Lee fired four shots in rapid succession. The officer did not have time to draw his revolver or defend himself.

Police were notified and Chief Graham and Motorcycle Policeman Sha-

MRS. WM. BUTTS WAS VERY SICK

Gives Full Credit to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for Remarkable Recovery

Wellston, O.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to make me strong. I was troubled with my back and sides hurting me till I could not do my work, and whenever I caught cold it made me irregular. Since I have taken the Vegetable Compound my side and back don't bother me and I can do my housework and care for my children now, where before I did not feel like doing anything or going around. After my first child was born about four years ago I saw an advertisement in the paper about the Vegetable Compound. I knew it would help me, but I was afraid to try it because people said it would help you to have children and I knew I was having children fast enough. But I thought if it would help me it would be better to have a whole house full of children and have good health. I became stronger from taking it and my husband says I look like a live woman instead of a dead one. When Spring comes I am going to take your Blood Medicine as I am very thin. I will answer letters from any woman who wishes to ask about your medicine."

Mrs. WILLIAM BUTTS, Wellston, Ohio.

BRINGING UP FATHER

MICHAEL'S MARRIAGE

By MICHAEL

CHAPTER 92

The young man on the telephone came to the point immediately.

"This is Joe Wood," he told Michael. "Lonnie Capper's press agent, you know. Please give me some dope on this bequest. I'd come out and see you, like a good reporter should, instead of telephoning, but I have an edition to make."

"The account I've seen—in the News, I believe—tells all there is to the story. I didn't wish for it to get out; the detectives didn't have any business telling."

Joe Wood laughed. "Never trust a detective to get anything under his hat, or keep it there. But may I ask, without being too impertinent, the total value of the estate your mother left?"

"The executor, Security Trust, hasn't completed the valuation," Michael evaded. "Of course, he knew very well how many thousands his mother had willed him."

"I see. Did your mother ever speak of such a bequest?"

"No. I knew nothing about the contents of the chest."

"Oh, they were left in a chest?"

Michael informed him on this detail, which had not been touched upon in the other newspaper story.

"There isn't anything else you'd like to have in the story?"

"No." He conveyed a smile. "I don't want anything in it."

"Well, the name of Menlow is pretty well known in this town. It's a much bigger story, you know, than if the chest had been left by Mrs. Joe Wood. But, say Mike, I'll promise to keep Lonnie Capper out of the house when the next time he gets stewed and beats up a cop, if you'll give me a picture of Mrs. Menlow. I can send out a photographer if you haven't any available. I'd like to have a picture of you, too—also your mother."

"No. No pictures."

"In addition to keeping Lonnie out of jail, I'll promise to get him married, if only you'll let me have the pictures."

Michael had to smile at this reporter's persistence.

"I'll speak to my wife," he said, hoping to escape. "She ought to be consulted. Call me up in the morning."

"All right. Thank you, Mike. I'll keep Lonnie from being sued for breach of promise, too."

Michael went back to Lilah wearily. He could guess what had passed between her and Mrs. Pharley.

Lilah cornered, had anticipated her mother, and cried: "To think that this should happen before I even had a chance of telling you about the gift, mother."

Mother Pharley was not fooled. "I don't think you intended to tell me about it."

Lilah did not respond. She picked up the newspaper Michael had brought home, and tried to become interested in it.

The two women were silent when Michael entered the room. "Another blasted reporter," he announced. "And this one knows me so I couldn't slam the receiver and crack his ear."

However, reporters are useful sometimes. They can fix it up down at the police station when you get nicked by a cop for speeding or parking on the wrong side of the street.

"And dear, he promised me he would get Lonnie Capper married if only I'd give him a picture of you for publication."

There was no humor in her voice when she answered. "He shan't have one then—not if some woman has to marry Lonnie Capper as a result."

To Michael her tone bespoke distaste for his friend. Why? His thoughts on this score were interrupted by the entrance of Sally Warbe.

"Mr. Michael!" she was excited. In her hand she held a bundle of papers—the missing bonds. (To be continued.)

FAMOUS FRENCH RECIPES

LIVER BUTTERFLIES

Paris—For "liver butterflies" the liver of any animal may be used.

Cut into slices and brown in butter. When half cooked place each slice in an oiled paper, or wrap in a thin band of fat bacon. Garnish with chopped shallot and parsley. Sprinkle the liver with the same. Envelop the liver well with the bacon, folding over to close.

Cook over a moderate fire and serve in the paper.

RESERVES GOING AFTER VICTORY IN TILT WITH MOHAWKS

The Reserves will attempt to win their third straight game Sunday afternoon at Washington Park when they tangle with the fast Mohawks of Springfield. Play will be called at 2:30 o'clock with Rachford calling the balls and strikes.

The Reserves have won their last two games and have shown a decided improvement. Nolte, new twirler, seems to be a pretty fair sort of a pitcher but more can be learned about him after he shows his wares against the Mohawk nine which, by the way, is a slugging combination. The Mohawks defeated Bowersville last Sunday by a 1 to 0 score. James, Mohawk twirler, let the Bowersville nine down with five hits while he fanned nine. He was supposed on the hill by Glass who is a mighty sweet pitcher. F. Kinsler is the visitors' dangerous man as he has been slamming the ball hard all season.

The Reserves went through a light workout this week, while the battery, Nolte and Friend, had its workout in Dayton. All members announce that they are in tip top shape for the game and Cain will be back at first as his knee, which he injured in sliding practice, will be O. K. Cyphers will be played at third and the locals will then have a strong defense. P. Fuller is leading the locals in hitting with a .392 average while Cyphers and Van Bessler are tied for the second position with a .333.

"E" BRAND PEANUT BUTTER

TASTES JUST LIKE FRESH ROASTED NUTS

There are several reasons why "E" BRAND PEANUT BUTTER is better than the average peanut butter. Only finest grade selected Virginia peanuts are used and these are roasted by an expert—one who has developed the roasting into a fine art. After the nuts are roasted they are carefully sorted so that no bitter, discolored nuts ever mar the fine flavor and quality of the butter.

NUTS ARE CHOPPED—NOT GROUND

The butter is made by a new process by which the nuts are chopped instead of ground. This preserves a large part of the oil cells intact and prevents the oil from rising to the top in large quantities. The butter is smooth, rich and has the delicious flavor of freshly roasted nuts. You will find it better than your best expectations.
